MEMORIES 1977 MARPLE NEWTOWN SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL SCHOOL NEWTOWN SQUARE, PENNSYLVANIA

14865

Memories 1977 moves us into the first year of the third century in the life of our nation. Much has been said and done about the dreams of our forefathers. Their dreams have been brought to fruition largely because succeeding generations have taken these dreams and molded them into what is now a great people and democracy.

Langston Hughes says it all in his poem "Dreams":

Hold fast to dreams For if dreams die Life is a broken-winged bird That cannot fly

Hold fast to dreams For when dreams go Life is a barren field Frozen with snow

I encourage the Class of 1977 to dream and to bring the dreams of the past to reality.

Waiting for Everything
Clothing torn, patience worn
Waiting not only on a gray city corner
Not only getting whipped in the face by the wind
Being whipped around by other things
And stinging And being blasted, and bossed,
And hell by the horns
And god's heaven by hands
Lightening fingers
Touch innocent man
Innocent man' said the keeper of time,

The hourglass sand
Too old to have tantasies
"Too young to have plans"
Wonderful weather the flexible wonder
Look too far ahead
And you see distant thunder
Look too far behind
And cling to your past,
Your living and giving
Regression
Too fast

And I swear
It one of you
Gets inside the hottest thirst
Or cannot bear to face the fire
Burning the life
Scalding the race
Inside your mirror—
The only face
That can ever sing
Is smiling
And waiting for everything

A Feather Sprung from Air

Violins softly stringing their sweet melody.

From silence — beauty and life

Awakening flower,

Lovely growing,

Pale, pale yellow, painted pure white,

Beautiful white,

White as a feather sprung from air.

Clear air,

Showering mists of endless life.

A Life that seems, somehow,

However endless elsewhere,

To be fading quickly...

"You dumbell" . . . Morgan!!! Can't you block that 240 lb. tackle? . . . Monday afternoon films . . . If we had all Small's on the field . . . Sophomore sing-a-long . . . If I catch you necking in the halls one more time . . . 7 laps after sprints — telephone pole, tennis courts and back . . . Our big 11 seniors . . . Hey Specca, do you wear that earring during the game? . . .

Kevin, Only 29 more practices of camp . . . The absences of the ULTIMATE . . . Every day's a holiday, every meal a feast . . . Big Al's after the game . . . Step down the line Palmerio!!! . . . Funny Bob!

Although our season did not turn out as well as we had expected, we are sure we will remember all the good and bad times that we had. Three hard weeks of camp and eleven tough games are enough to exhaust any athlete mentally as well as physically. But thanks to Mr. Kenig and our other coaches, we stuck right in there. We appreciate all the work and effort that the coaches have given us. On the field or off, they helped us out as individuals and as a team. We believe that each of them, along with all of the seniors, gave everything they had in being leaders on the team and in school.

". . . o sages standing in god's holy fire as in the gold mosaic of a wall come from the fire, pyrne in a gyre and be the singing-masters of my soul . ."

w.b. yeats

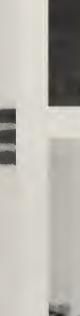

Time has stopped when you use your eyes, like ice this moment melts away. Here you behold the beauty of life. Time is passing now for us. The shadows follow through our lives of the memories left behind. Restless hearts never mend for the shadows follow behind you. I saw you coming back to me but my eyes only hold a transparent dream. Shadows are so vague illusions distort our memories.

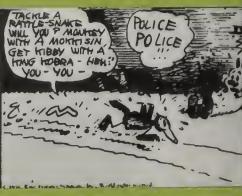

Light at the End of the Tunnel

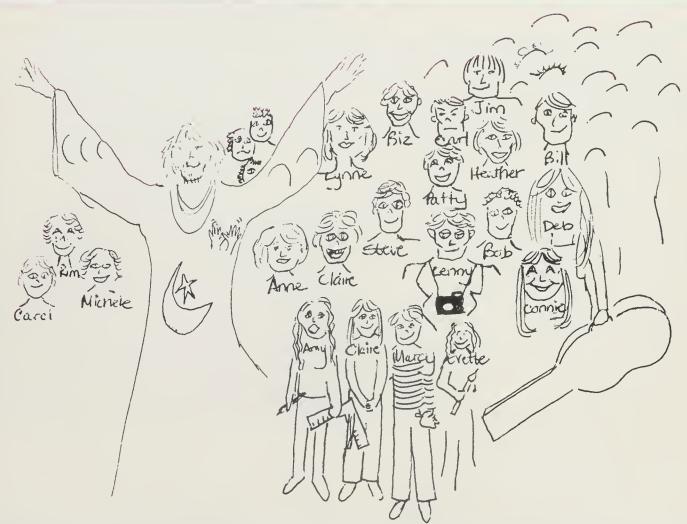

Running to escape, escaping
Nor will you ever see him stumble, or look back
fear does not lie behind
it lies inside
No matter the way of his path
perhaps it is a perfect straightness following the rigidness of the mountain peaks against the horizon or sun

When the receding light gives way to the sun of night running forward in pursuit of the seeker and yet, still lost the seeker stands off far in the distance

Those who search for the seeker seek for what is hidden beneath... Future flowing into present a continual chain... is found when we reach the light at the end of the tunnel.
